

not a word everything

not commerce but the world not the word everything not everything the dirt wonder something further something out of politeness something not commerce the world not the word something further an entire department store of affirmations self-distinguishing self-relating self-congratulatory opposite givings giving rise to another opposite giving another connection level of devotion a dream backing from away from engineering shadow not imagining imagining a bar code imagining further not word name doing proceedings 50 or so semicolons something landscape something zero doing descent doing gone gone doing a moment behind myself behind I can go no further passing things that comes to pass a comma past a semicolon not commerce but the world not the word an offering not a partial a single not a unit the unimagined not an ideal a partial gone before being imagined interchangeable subject and objects equality over the republic overseeing the overseer overseeing a department store of self-distinguishing self-relating self-congratulatory giving praise to another not connection to notions but a new level of devotion a dream job backed by engineering shadows

I am not imaging this imagining a bar code imagining not a partial a catch-all a dreamed status quo a department store of affirmations hoping my face meets the chap-stick of life the way a day goes by a doctrine turned to salt not commerce but the world not the word everything